

The Policeman

A job for people who enjoy using brute force on innocent bystanders. Very often part of the problem and very rarely the solution. Unable to act without clear instructions from a superior officer and surely not very responsive to reason when dealing with crowds of people. Police enjoy enforcing too much and are especially enthusiastic about the zero-tolerance policy implemented towards soccer fans, immigrants and political rallies.

The young muslim

According to media and widespread perception in the population this group is single-handedly responsible for the nations problems with street gangs, drugs and not to forget the issues of terrorism. The young muslims are more than reluctant to integrate into Danish society and we are sure they are planning to overthrow democracy in order to build a muslim state. Most of them are collecting welfare, getting married to their cousin from Pakistan and sending all their money out of the country each month

The Night Club Bouncer

Very unpopular character especially with minority groups who are often denied access to night clubs based on color of their skin. Loves to enforce his job and to refuse people access to the club. Generally perceived as a “huge” lump of meat on steroids with very little mental capacity. Finally the Night Club bouncer does his best to impress your lady when you enter the club and will go out of his way to cramp your style.

The Homosexual

Most commonly perceived by heterosexuals as “feminine” and as chasing “heterosexuals” with the purpose to convert them or introduce them to the joys of gay life. As well blamed for the spread of HIV/AIDS. Gay men are very attentative to their looks and enjoy taking time to remove body hair.
